Aid to Breeders of Live Stock.

Owing to the heavy drain upon the livestock of the various warring countries of Europe, they have been forced to go abroad for supplies. The longer this war lasts the greater will be this demand. Moreover, when peace is restored, these countries will require large numbers of the various classes of animals to replenish their studs, herds and flocks. It should be borne in mind, however, that the buyers, who come to this country after the war, will require better animals than have been bought during war time, as they will be used largely for breeding purposes.

With this end in view, the best of the females and particularly the young stock should be kept for breeding purposes. Breeders should not fail to raise all the livestock possible at this time, in order that the country may be able to supply a large number of the animals that are certain to be needed by the warring countries. At present, however, there is an unequal distribution of livestock in the country. In certain sections there is a heavy surplus, with a corresponding scarcity in other parts. During the past year hundreds of young cattle from our prairie provinces have gone to the United States as stockers and feeders. These should have been kept at home, particularly the females. Sections of the west are reported as being in need of good draft horses, particularly draft mares, while in sections of Ontario, there is an oversupply of this particular class. In order to remedy these conditions the minister of agriculture, through the livestock branch, has decided to grant liberal aid to breeders who wish to secure good breeding stock. The conditions under which aid will be given are as follows: In the event of a number of farmers in any district of Canada wishing to co-operate for the purpose of breeding stock in certain lots from some distant section of the country, the department will pay the travelling expenses of their duly appointed representative during the time required to effect the purchase and transport the shipment to its destination. Should it be desired, the livestock commission will nominate a suitable person who will be directed to accompany this representative and assist him as far as possible in buying and shipping the animals.

Persons wishing to take advantage of this offer should make full arrangements with the livestock commission as to place and time of purchase before sending out their representative.

"The Taking of the Guns"

The charge of the Ninth Lancers against German guns in the neighborhood of Mons during the early days of the British operations at the front will live in history among the most heroic deeds of our army. It will also live in poetry, like the Belshazzar charge, for William Watson has made it the subject of some stirring lines. "At the cannon in ambush our horsemen gathered, knights of liberty, glory's sons, and show the gunners beside their guns." The Ninth Lancers had been covering the retreat of the infantry when they were told by their colonel that eleven German guns, on the outskirts of a wood about a mile away, must be taken, and the bugle sounded for the charge. The Lancers dashed forward amid a hail of shrapnel and rifle bullets, riding down the enemy's infantry. As they approached the guns, many of the gunners ran into the woods but those who remained were cut into pieces. After putting the guns out of action, the Lancers rode back under a fierce fire from other guns on their flank.
